The Importance of Facts

"The Supreme Court of the United States has frequently reminded the Bar that painstaking examination of the fact situation is more important than the law involved. Mr. Justice Miller was one of the Court's great judges. He said, after twenty-five years on the Bench, that as a result of his own experience in the conference room of the United States Supreme Court, it surprised him how quickly judges could agree on the law and how frequently they disagreed on the facts. Justice Miller's observation does not lack support in the Court's own reported decisions."—Eugene C. Gerhart, The Fountainhead of the Law—the Facts, A.B.A. Journal, July, 1950, 533.
